

How Do I Know: Music and lyrics by Brittany Jean

You may have noticed
I haven't written many love songs and there's a simple reason why
I've never been there, and I don't want to waste time
Searching all the wrong places so, right now, I'm chasing other dreams of mine
I'll keep my eyes wide open
But I'm not lookin'

How do I know you're not headed to work at five A.M.
Carryin' a cup of coffee?
How do I know you're not an athlete
Working toward a big league jersey?
How do I know you're not
A songwriter like me?
How do I know that it won't hit me, like Emma and Mr. Knightley
How do I know?

I don't want to waste time searching all the wrong places
So right now, I'm chasing other dreams of mine
I'll keep my eyes wide open
But I'm not lookin'
Love, find me

How do I know you're not a writer
Just haven't been published yet?
How do I know you're not studying up
'Cause you want to be a pilot?
How do I know we haven't been friends forever?
How do I know we've never met?
How do I know?

I don't want to waste time searching all the wrong places
So right now, I'm chasing other dreams of mine
I'll keep my eyes wide open
But I'm not lookin'
Love, find me

I only want to fall once
When I know that you're the one to catch me
There's no hurry
I'm gonna wait till we're both ready
I'm gonna wait until I know

I don't want to waste time searching all the wrong places
So right now, I'm chasing other dreams of mine
I'll keep my eyes wide open
But I'm not lookin'
Love, find me

I'll keep my eyes wide open
But I'm not lookin'
My Love, find me
How do I know you're not headed to work at five A.M.
Carryin' a cup of coffee?
