

Meet Me in the Wildwood: Music and lyrics by Brittany Jean

There's something in all of us longing for a climb
Longing for the dangerous, beautiful, mountainous summit
In sweet summertime
While the sun hangs around
The moon dreams of a hand-me-down day

And they say, "Meet me in the wildwood at twilight
For the Anniversary of Starlight
And perhaps you could--oh, say you might
Tell me tales of the day
Oh, tell me the tales of the day"

Sandman sails Cerulean across the midnight sky
Across the thoughts of children--a thousand times a million dreamers
And only he knows why
While the moon hangs around
The sun wants a hand-me-down dream

And they say, "Meet me in the wildwood at twilight
For the Anniversary of Starlight
And perhaps you could--oh, say you might
Tell me tales of the night
Oh, tell me the tales of the night"

They say, "Meet me in the wildwood at twilight
For the Anniversary of Starlight"
And perhaps you could--oh, say you might
Give me one wish tonight
Oh, give me one wish tonight

Meet me in the wildwood at twilight
Oh, meet me in the wildwood at twilight
