

Wilderness for Heart: Music and lyrics by Brittany Jean

From the day he was born
His soul was made untamed
A lion-heart was given him
And a ticket for the train

But he'd never take a train into the mountains
He'd only take his feet where they may go—
Over tower, over tide,
Along this open road of mine

He's got a wilderness for heart
And a lost about his way
He's got a shadow in the dark and
Young blood in his veins

Through the day and late at night
His momma prays
For the future of a wild boy—
That his heart will still remain

And his daddy sees a strength that makes him proud—
The fearless way he stands alone
With abandon and a fire
That hungers for a colder sky

He's got a wilderness for heart
And a lost about his way
He's got a shadow in the dark and
Young blood in his veins

He's got a wilderness for heart
And a lost about his way
He's got a shadow in the dark and
Young blood in his veins
